Reduce your service calls - saving time, money, and relationships.

NA Trading and Technology offers a broad selection repair and improvement items, including a selection of end fences that reduce costly and timely service calls.

NA Trading's Stainless Steel End Fences are to be used in Ricoh family machines and are designed to last longer and endure more than the OEM end fences.

The end fences are cut of stainless steel, ensuring that the material will not break at lower tab points - a problem that is common with the OEM's molded plastic end fence. While the steel is durable, it still flexes for easy installation by any user.
